Sad Death.

We are called upon in this issue to chronicle the sad fact that our little friend Janet Boggs is no more. She died Thursday morning after an illness of several weeks, which all along refused to yield to the best medical skill. She was a bright, sweet child of 14 summers, who was much loved by all who knew her, and just at that most interesting age when one throws off the robe of childhood in exchange for the mantle of a young woman. We have never seen as much interest manifested in any case as has been done in her behalf, and now that she is gone, a great gloom hangs over our town and dead silence reigns supreme in our midst. A chair is thus made vacant in the family circle; her place is unfilled in the Sabbath school; her little friends will never again hear her cheery and musical voice; and her amiable disposition can only be seen now in our recollections of the past. And though she has been taken away while yet a child, she has left implanted firmly in our memories a monument of purity that is far more durable than marble and which cannot be effaced by time.

Just as the sun was making his appearance over the eastern horizon, the sun of her earthly existence went down forever behind the western hills, but at the same instant it rose in eternity, never to set again where it will shine with a brilliancy unsurpassed. We know no work of ours can mitigate the gloom or assuage the grief of this sorrow stricken family, but we assure them that in this, their great hour of bereavement, they have our sincere sympathy.—Pendleton News.

THE LATEST, CHEAPEST AND BEST

IS THE CYCLONE
POST-HOLE
DIGGER
Patented Dec. 27, 1887. Other Patents applied for.
Universally conceded to be the best and only Digger that works to perfection in the softest of sand and the toughest of clay, and unequalled by all others to work in any kind of soil, as the blades are so arranged and made of spring steel, thus allowing them to expand and contract when filling and emptying same.
The handle is so arranged that it can be lengthened to any desired length by adding pipe to it in sections, so that any desired depth can be reached with these Diggers.
It is light, strong, durable and simple (nothing complicated about it), and does twice the work in less time than any other Digger made.
